

Over the past few months we have been extremely busy promoting our new European line INCEPTION® as well as our Peerless Certified LED products using `Made in America` SEESMART® technology. The response has been extremely positive and Peerless is becoming the frontrunner of assisting building owners, engineers and contractors with their energy efficiency and lighting requirements. Our products will continuously be showcased across the country and I would like to personally invite you to meet with me and our Peerless team and see for yourself our new and exciting products and technology that we have to offer.
